In keeping with MSU’s land-grant tradition, President Simon had discussed her vision in the context of moving from “land-grant” to “world-grant,” suggesting that the local and global are connected and that MSU faculty, staff, students, and alumni should not only serve Michigan and its residents, but also the broader global community.

Finally, during the process of defining campus internationalization at MSU, a process based on the Boldness by Design plan, a committee of faculty, staff, and students adopted the MSU Liberal Learning goals as the frame for articulating MSU’s Global Competencies. This committee defined “internationalization” as a process of creating “global-ready citizens, scholars, and professionals,” and it aligned the institution’s Liberal Learning Outcomes with its statement about global learning outcomes.

On average, 10-15% of the money you spend on a product pays for the packaging, which ultimately ends up as garbage.
