Did You Know?

“Are pet food bags recyclable?”

According to the MSU Recycling Center, pet food bags are not recyclable. They are often composed of several layers of brown craft paper, and although that is recyclable material, the plastic barriers between each layer are not! In the perfect scenario, a passionate recycler could separate the layers and direct them to their proper streams, but since that is quite labor intensive, you are better off to just throw the bags out.

Are you unsure about recycling a specific material at home or in the office? Send the MSU Recycling Center a picture with a brief description, and they’ll share their recycling answer on their Facebook page for all their followers to see!
