Mostly Cloudy

DOSE Principle of the Week:

I am proud of my professional appearance, language and behavior.

“I believe in professionalism, but playing is not like a job. You have to be grateful to have the opportunity to play.”

– Wynton Marsalis

---

CONSTRUCTION UPDATES

Work on Bryan and Armstrong halls continues as workers prepare the building to host student and staff tours later this year. Significant progress has been made to hallways and restrooms, and now the majority of work will be focused on the common areas, and main-floor lobbies and elevator. To read more about these projects and more, visit the RHS Construction website here.

---

2013 One Book, One Community Selection

The City of East Lansing and Michigan State University announced the 2013 One Book, One Community book selection. Written by debut novelist and Iraq War Veteran, Kevin Powers, “The Yellow Birds” has received critical acclaim and was a 2012 National Book Award Finalist. To learn more about the author, book and One Book, One Community program visit MSU Today, here.

---

Every day, MSU works to advance prosperity for the people of Michigan—making a positive impact on the state’s economy in technology, agriculture, manufacturing, health, education, energy, the environment, and the arts. To explore the map and see the statewide impact, click here.

---

The MSU Student Organic Farm

The MSU Student Organic Farm will be back to Farm Lane the first week in April every Thursdays from 11:00 am to 5:00 pm. What does spring look like at the Student Organic Farm?

Spinach, lettuce, strawberries, and so much more!

---

Kitchen Reminder:

This is a friendly reminder to be courteous of others and make sure that you are cleaning up after yourself in the kitchen. Help take care of our building and avoid having ants!

---

2013 One Book, One Community Selection

The City of East Lansing and Michigan State University announced the 2013 One Book, One Community book selection. Written by debut novelist and Iraq War Veteran, Kevin Powers, “The Yellow Birds” has received critical acclaim and was a 2012 National Book Award Finalist. To learn more about the author, book and One Book, One Community program visit MSU Today, here.

---

Every day, MSU works to advance prosperity for the people of Michigan—making a positive impact on the state’s economy in technology, agriculture, manufacturing, health, education, energy, the environment, and the arts. To explore the map and see the statewide impact, click here.

---

The MSU Student Organic Farm

The MSU Student Organic Farm will be back to Farm Lane the first week in April every Thursdays from 11:00 am to 5:00 pm. What does spring look like at the Student Organic Farm?

Spinach, lettuce, strawberries, and so much more!

---

Kitchen Reminder:

This is a friendly reminder to be courteous of others and make sure that you are cleaning up after yourself in the kitchen. Help take care of our building and avoid having ants!

---

2013 One Book, One Community Selection

The City of East Lansing and Michigan State University announced the 2013 One Book, One Community book selection. Written by debut novelist and Iraq War Veteran, Kevin Powers, “The Yellow Birds” has received critical acclaim and was a 2012 National Book Award Finalist. To learn more about the author, book and One Book, One Community program visit MSU Today, here.

---

Every day, MSU works to advance prosperity for the people of Michigan—making a positive impact on the state’s economy in technology, agriculture, manufacturing, health, education, energy, the environment, and the arts. To explore the map and see the statewide impact, click here.

---

The MSU Student Organic Farm

The MSU Student Organic Farm will be back to Farm Lane the first week in April every Thursdays from 11:00 am to 5:00 pm. What does spring look like at the Student Organic Farm?

Spinach, lettuce, strawberries, and so much more!

---

Kitchen Reminder:

This is a friendly reminder to be courteous of others and make sure that you are cleaning up after yourself in the kitchen. Help take care of our building and avoid having ants!

---

2013 One Book, One Community Selection

The City of East Lansing and Michigan State University announced the 2013 One Book, One Community book selection. Written by debut novelist and Iraq War Veteran, Kevin Powers, “The Yellow Birds” has received critical acclaim and was a 2012 National Book Award Finalist. To learn more about the author, book and One Book, One Community program visit MSU Today, here.

---

Every day, MSU works to advance prosperity for the people of Michigan—making a positive impact on the state’s economy in technology, agriculture, manufacturing, health, education, energy, the environment, and the arts. To explore the map and see the statewide impact, click here.