Dose Principle of the Week

Human Resources
The mission of Human Resources is to advise and assist on organizational issues that will help Residential and Hospitality Services and the University attain its fiscal goals and service priorities and fulfill its mission; to provide guidance on matters relating to employee and labor relations within the Division; to help our employees become dynamic leaders and productive employees by meeting their educational and professional goals and career objectives; and to position our Division to meet future expectations by fostering a culture of learning, collaboration, courageous leadership and customer loyalty.

Making an Impact
As part of the Big Ten conference Michigan State University is making a significant impact on the world each and every day. "Impact the World" is a new series that shifts focus from playing on the field to the Big Ten professors and students making a difference. Michigan State will be featured on episodes including Medical Advancement and Service. To learn more about “Impact the World” and view air times, click here.

Carpool With Your Co-Workers!
Did you know that there are reduced carpool parking rates? Car pool permits are available for employees that allow the same parking privileges as individual permits but at a reduced cost. As part of clean commute month take advantage of this and car pool with your co-workers!

Tour the Sanford Natural Area!
The group will meet in the parking lot of Van Hoosen Hall near the entrance to the natural area.

Join Peter Carrington, assistant curator of the W.J. Beal Botanical Garden, on a naturalist’s walk through the Sanford Natural Area for a look at a river’s edge ecosystem at autumnal equinox. All manner of creatures and plants will be highlighted in this climatically unusual year. Preparations for winter and the foreshadowing of next spring will be discussed.
